

Jupiter Is Transiting Gemini

Description

Well, as you may know, Jupiter is transiting Gemini this year. Maybe that's why the spirits and I feel compelled to start a blog. Assuming whoever is reading this is an astrology novice, Gemini rules the third house in the zodiac, which among other things, includes communication and the written word.

Jupiter is a really, really big planet that brings luck and expansion to whatever sign it's transiting in for about 13 months every year. Stay tuned for much more on Jupiter in future posts.

Anyway, the spirits and I have a lot to say to the world. A LOT.

What is the real reason we're all here? What is the true existence beyond the physical dimension?

Why do some people get so uncomfortable thinking about that?

Well, the spirits and I have some thoughts. We have some messages to pass on. If you're reading this, I guess there's a reason, because as we know, nothing happens by accident. We are happy you are here!

How is Jupiter transiting Gemini affecting your life this year? Have you ever looked at a picture of Jupiter next to the Earth? It really is massive. Maybe this will be your year for luck and expansion in the third house, watch what happens!
